

Problem Statement: To uphold Motorola's core value of focusing on human-centered innovation, Motorola needs to ensure that their workforce is well equipped with the training tools and resources to problem solve and design creatively with the consumer's best interest in mind. Currently, Motorola employees are finding it difficult to keep track of their training progress as they have yet to build out a standardized and centralized location to house this information.

Solution: Create an interactive training dashboard that enables employees to view their trainings and track their progress and deadlines. This dashboard is to ensure that every new employee is aware of and adheres to company culture and policies in an accessible manner.

Features :

- Display required courses , time taken to finish,
- a user's progress on each course
- deadlines
- email reminders to finish their course.
- upcoming training
- employee content (masterclass)

Sample Courses :

- Personal Security Training
- Preventing Workplace Harassment
- Intellectual Property Protection
- Emergency Response Training
- Business Ethics
- Environment Health and Safety
- Data Privacy
- Cultural Competence
- Inclusive Communications
- Records Management
